

Gallery of modern art

Day 31 January 2012 our class 2nd Pythagora accompanied by the teachers: Angelina Fantasia and Emanuela Leto visited the gallery of Modern Art in St. Anne's Square in Palermo. At 8:00 our class met at the station of Carini and at 8:35 we boarded on the train, headed to Palermo central station situated near Via Roma. Once at the top we went to Mac Donald's for breakfast. Released by the refreshment area we headed on foot to the Gallery of Modern Art, made the tickets we started our visit to the gallery, soon finding ourselves in a great hall and in front of two historic buildings. The gallery was founded in 1910 and exhibits works of important artists. These works are portrayed in paintings, statues and sculptures. Among the artists are: Antonino Leto with his work "The sow and her little ones," Francesco Lo Jacono with 'L' autumn ', Joseph Patania with "The White Queen", "Christopher Columbus in Chain" made by Benedetto De Lisi, "Psyche carried by Zafini Vincenzo Riolo, Salvatore Lo Forte with a portrait of Giuseppe

Garibaldi .....

Most of these paintings are done in oil on canvas and in marble and bronze statues, many depicting the nude statues.
